Different Strokes

If you've seen our logo (perhaps on a commercial break during a broadcast of the storybook 2012 season of the reigning World Champion San Francisco Giants), you'll know that Heffernan's tagline is "Because You're Different."

HG Magazine was named first-place winner of the American Business Awards (known as the "The Stevies") for Best Print Annual Report, 2011. Heffernan Insurance Brokers won two national marketing Silver awards from the 2012 American Business Awards for Best Annual Report—Print and Best Annual Report—Online for HG Magazine, Vol. 4, 2011. See stevieawards.com.

That's because we pride ourselves on doing things a little differently, and so do you. When we started in the insurance industry, we knew we wanted to run the company our way. That same spirit can be found among those profiled in this year's HG Magazine.

Here at Heffernan we made our name by focusing on and expanding insurance coverage to a variety of niche businesses, and that model still guides our company's growth. Since we have so many unique clients and programs, it made sense that we would choose a few of the more colorful among them to highlight for you. For example, last year we created a program which offers coverage for participants of the Burning Man event (see page 12).

Inside these pages you'll find numerous examples of our clients doing things differently—like Lytro, a company reinventing digital photography. Or action moviemaker Greg Gasson (you may have seen his ad during the Super Bowl, featuring a car falling out of an airplane). We also canvassed our employees and are happy to bring you a sampling of some of the varied hobbies and interests pursued by members of our staff.

The corporate culture at Heffernan is also unique—in fact, it's been called "freewheeling"—which for me translates to a lack of bureaucracy and a philosophy emphasizing working hard, having fun and giving back. Last year we were again named a Top Corporate Philanthropist in the Bay Area, a distinction we have held since 2003. We are very proud to highlight that in 2011 our company donated 22% of profit to charity.

I believe any personal success of mine can be attributed to the team that surrounds me. Our job is to hire the right people, give them the tools and resources they need, and then get out of their way. This year and every year we are indebted to our smart, motivated, hardworking employees, and because we want to put our money where our mouth is, in 2012 we instituted an Employee Stock Ownership Plan. Our company is now proudly "employee owned."

Thank you for your business and for the opportunity to serve you. Never happy with the status quo, we look forward to what's ahead, and commit to doing even better and working even harder for you next year. Because you're different.

Heffernan Employees Are Different

A smattering of Heffernan staff showcase their hidden talents, off the clock.

Painted Lady

On her days off in Los Angeles you'll find Katelin Hebson parked in front of a stretch of canvas; she works in oil, acrylic and spray graffiti.

Finding Inspiration

In Northern California, Shannon Mahoney turns to new music, fashion and social media for inspiration, then utilizes watercolor pens and colored pencils to create unique visual art.

Handmade with Love

Ever since she was a little girl, Amy Heckendorn (Walnut Creek) has been crocheting and creating: baby items, table cloths, blankets, greeting cards. Her family and friends (and also her co-workers and clients!) appreciate her beautiful, handcrafted gifts.

The Wild One

a.k.a. Orange County's Jim Cochran, makes a habit of riding his hog (that's a Harley, to you and me) on the streets and byways of Southern California.

Move Over, Ted Nugent

Sarah Radosevich can keep up with the boys when she's out hunting. Deer, pig, turkey, pheasant, duck—you name it, chances are, Sarah's bagged it. Sarah works in the Heffernan Petaluma branch.

Sushi Fanatic

Portland's Ernie Kangas travels all over the world in search of the perfect sushi, collecting over 500 business cards from restaurants from Austria to Hong Kong. Served sushi by Iron Chef Morimoto? Check. Visit to the famous fish market in Tokyo? Check.

He's with the Band

Insurance salesman by day, Roger Glomb (Walnut Creek) doubles as a musician at night—as guitarist and singer for his band, the Smokin' Js (ahem—medical purposes only, we're sure).

Extreme Hunting, Anyone?

Chris Watkins (Walnut Creek office) hunts all manner of game, big and small. And does his best not to waste a scrap of usable meat. Homemade macaroni and cheese with lobster (hand caught by Chris in the Channel Islands)? Yum.

Volunteer Pro

Special mention must be made of our Director of Corporate Philanthropy, Michelle Lonaker, who makes volunteering both her job and her hobby. Walks, runs, golf tournaments, ice cream socials, poker tournaments—if she can raise money for a nonprofit, Michelle is there!

Heffernan's people are different, and Heffernan's clients are different, too. In this issue, we feature some of our more different clients, whether wild, creative, innovative, or just a little out there. We salute our differences and are proud to showcase the following innovators.

Potter's Porta-Potties

Potter's Porta-Potties, a division of AAA Quality Services and family owned for over fifty years by Jay and Viola Faubel, is located in Farmersville, California. Serving the Central San Joaquin Valley, they provide a one-stop shop for construction sites and special events. In addition to portable restrooms (sometimes custom-painted to suit the occasion!), they provide temporary fencing, storage containers, office trailers, holding tanks, etc. Mark Herring of Heffernan's Portland office says, "They have a lot of fun with what they do. The entire group is a hoot! However, when they see a need in the community, they provide a solution. Whether it's a cool kids' portable restroom, or a need with the "Rotary" the Faubel family is there."

Burning Man

Burning Man is a week-long annual event held in the Black Rock Desert in northern Nevada. The event begins on the last Monday in August, and ends on the first Monday in September, which coincides with the American Labor Day holiday. It takes its name from the ritual burning of a large wooden effigy on Saturday evening. The event is described by many participants as an experiment in community, art, radical self-expression and radical self-reliance. Burning Man is organized by Black Rock City, LLC.

In 2011, Heffernan Insurance Brokers launched a unique program called Insurance on the Playa, which offers coverage for participants of the Burning Man event, including liability for theme camps, art cars and art installations, as well as coverage for owned or rented property.

Tippett Studio

From humble beginnings in their garage, in 1984, animation pioneer Phil Tippett and partner Jules Roman founded the company which now employs up to 225 artists and technicians in Berkeley, California. Phil Tippett, a stop-motion innovator who was once in danger of extinction in the burgeoning field of computerized visual effects, has instead become one of its most enduring figures. After the Star Wars trilogy, the Studio began as a stop-motion animation company—designing, building and animating sequences for the CBS series Dinosaur and for movies like Robocop, Robocop II, Honey, I Shrunk the Kids and Ghostbusters 2. Many of the artists at Tippett today were first inspired to pursue their craft by the work coming out of Tippett Studio when they were just youngsters.

Lytro

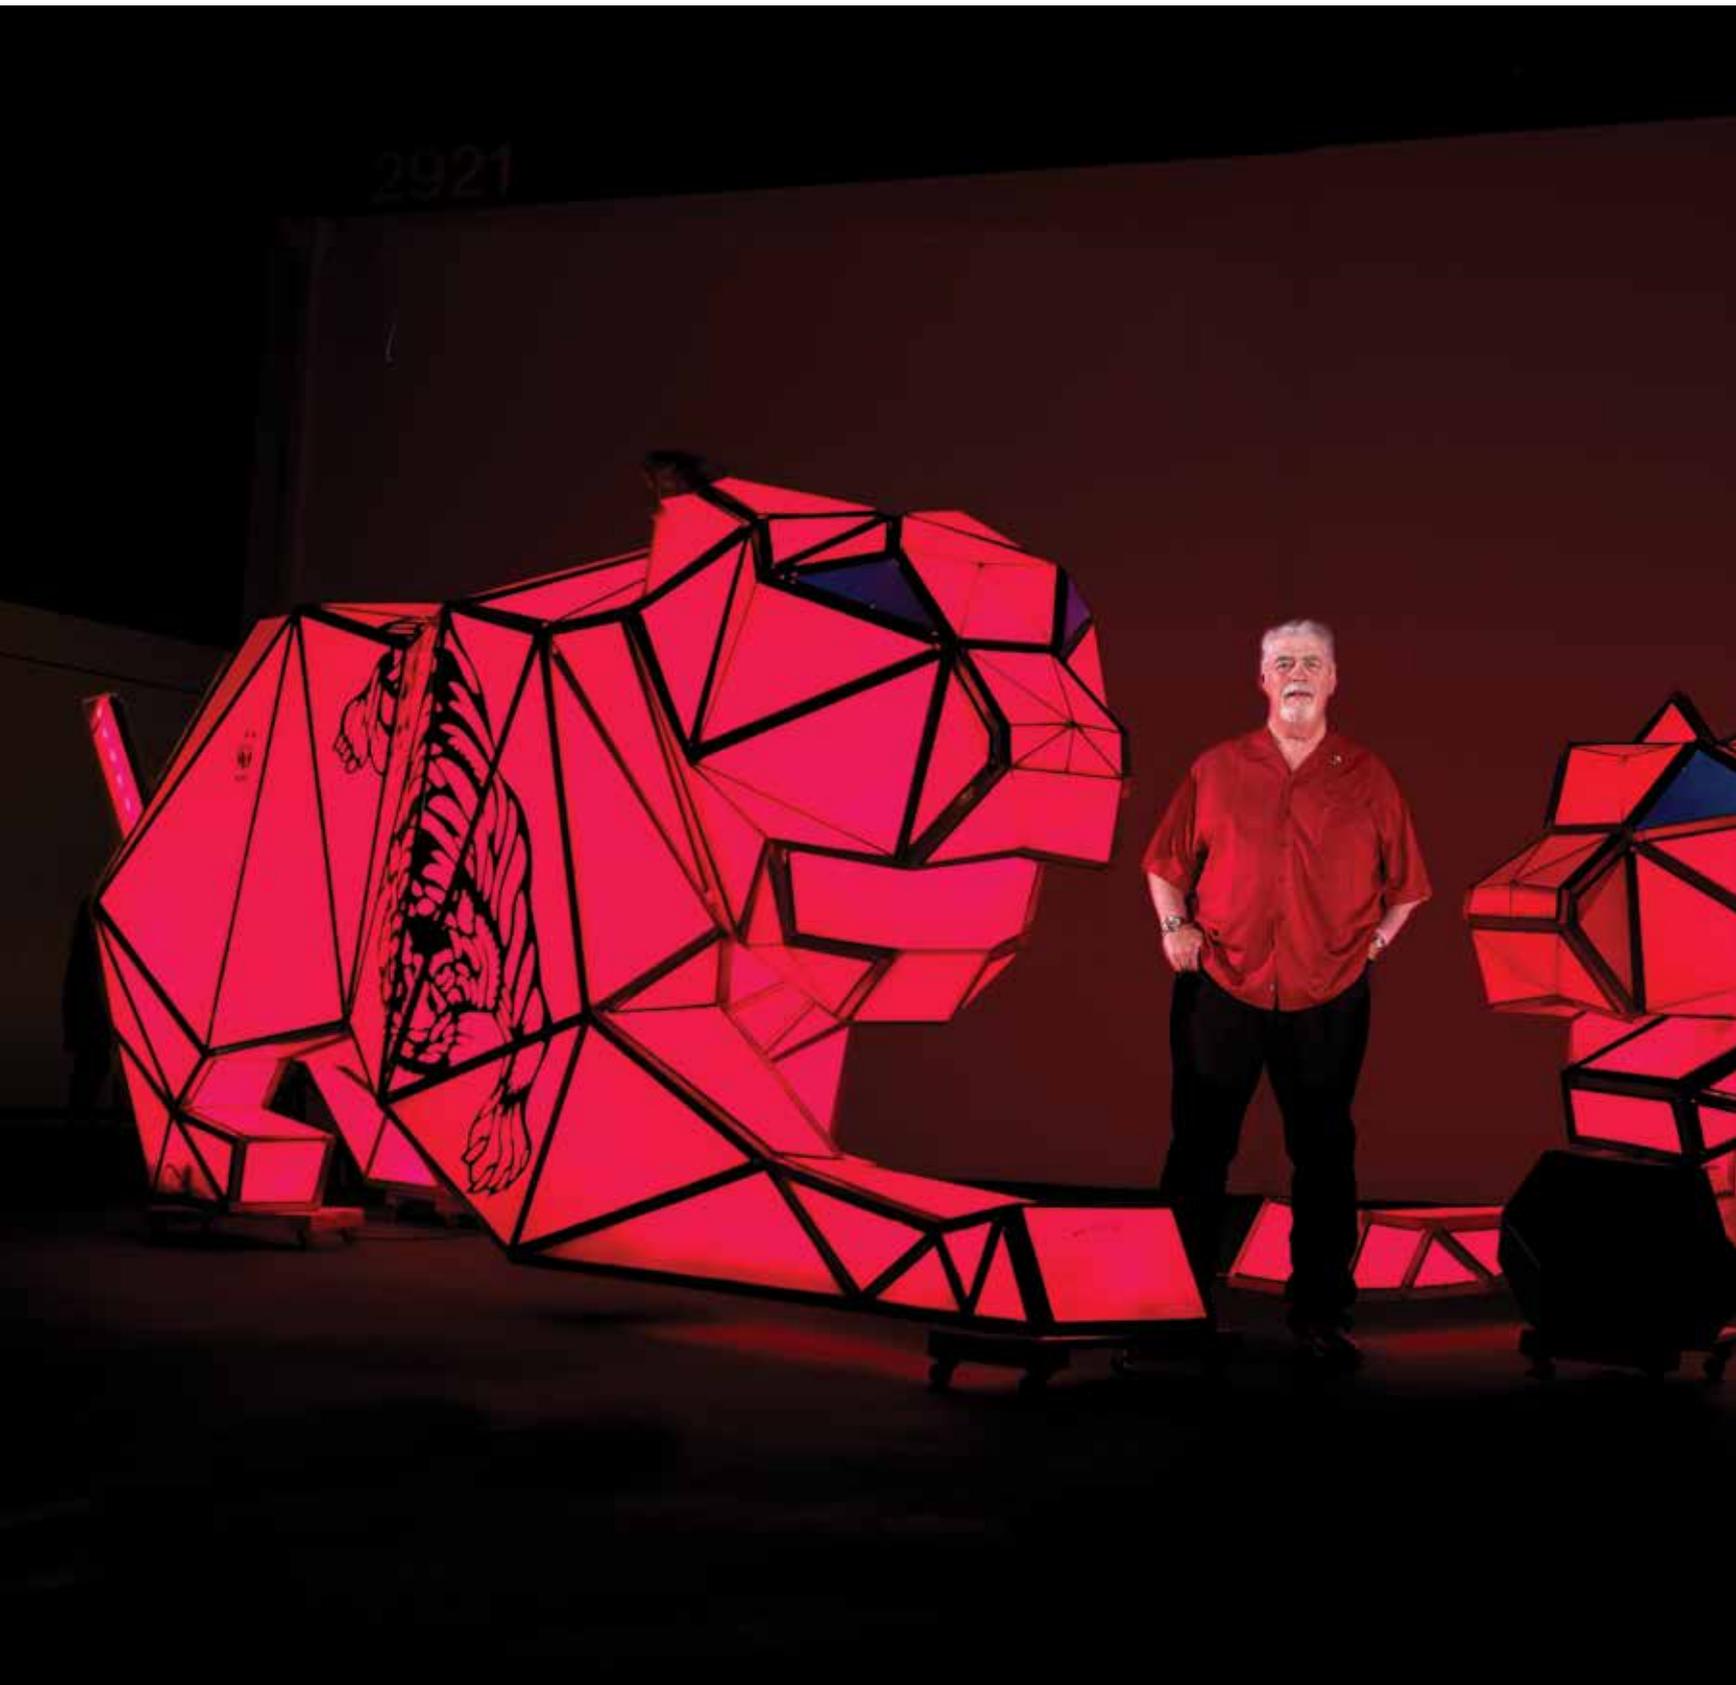

Lytro is transforming the camera into a powerful computational photography platform, forever changing the way everyone takes and experiences pictures. The first Lytro light field camera offers photographic capabilities never before possible, such as focusing a picture after it's taken, and creates interactive living pictures that can be endlessly refocused and enjoyed by friends and family online. CEO Ren Ng, whose Ph.D. research on light field photography won Stanford University's prize for best thesis in computer science in 2006 as well as the internationally recognized ACM Dissertation award, founded the company in 2006.
